Our Wonderful women.
You've seen these scarfs the girls wear,
Dame Fashion's latest gem.
Last year their pretty throats were bare
And now they muffle them.

Such shifts would give a man a fit,
He would the changes feel.
But nothing hurts the girls one bit;
They must be made of steel.

—Courier Journal.

Latest Velling—Miss S. Shapard.

Mr. Robert L. Hoeflich was a business visitor in Cincinnati yesterday.

Yesterday Mr. James Burger purchased of Mr. Thomas Kilgore his residence in Wall street. Consideration $1,000.

FRANK B. RESPESS

Death Claims Noted Turfman Who Saddled Many a Winner.

(Friday's Enquirer.)
Frank B. Respass, a well-known owner and trainer, died yesterday morning at the German Deaconess Hospital in Buffalo, N. Y., where he underwent a surgical operation three months ago. The operation was a success, but blood poison set in and was the cause of his demise. Respass was born in Boone county, 48 years ago, and, like his brother, Jerome B. Respass, was a well-known horseman. He established a record for himself as a handler of horses, and sent many a winner to the post.

Respass was single, and is survived by a sister, Miss Pearl, and two brothers, Jerome B., and Charles Respass. Deceased was an honorary member of the Newport Lodge of Elks.

The remains will be interred in the family cemetery at Independence today.

Deceased was a cousin of Col. Thomas A. Respass of this city.

Colonel Thomas A. Davis and niece, Miss Mollie Edmonds, left this morning for a visit of several weeks at their favorite health resort, Martinsville, Ind., where the genial ex-editor of The Public Ledger will drink his fill of the waters of the fountain of youth.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE AT ABERDEEN.

HAMILTON VISITS FOOD FACTORY

Battle Creek, Mich., Oct. 22, 1914. The Public Ledger:—
H. L. Hamilton of Maysville, was a visitor in Battle Creek, Mich., this week. On October 21, he visited the Kellogg Toasted Corn Flake Company's factories, one of the show places of the food city.

CONFLICT RAGING ON LAND, IN THE AIR, IN AND UNDER THE SEA

London, Oct. 23.—A dispatch states that news has been received in Paris that fresh German troops engaged in the battle of Flanders have increased the pressure against the right wing of the allies to an alarming point. It is feared that the German reinforcements may turn the tide of battle in their favor.

London, Oct. 23.—Today, near the birthplace of Jules Verne, the dreams of that great French writer of fiction have become reality. What is now known as the "Battle of Flanders" is being waged in the clouds by darting aeroplanes, Zeppelin aerial cruisers and naval balloons; on the sea by monster dreadnaughts and other warships; beneath the waves by mysterious submarines which stealthily hurl their torpedoes through the shimmering depths and lie concealed; on the land by countless soldiers equipped with all the machinery of war that man through the ages has achieved and manufactured.

Vessels from the French navy, having crept around the coast, are standing by the monitors which are hurling shells landward between Ostend and Nieuport on the Belgian coast, in continuation of the fierce struggle between Germany and the allies for the possession of the North Sea and channel ports.

The Germans are hurrying forward fresh troops and heavy guns, the latter to make reply to the damaging fire from the ships, and although they have been pushed back at certain points, they appear to be holding their line between the sea and LaBasse without, however, making noteworthy progress.

The fight, so far as Belgium is concerned, has now resolved itself into a terrific artillery duel, in which it is claimed that the allies, by reason of their long range guns, have had the advantage. The muddy roads and the net work of canals doubtless have hindered the invaders in getting their guns of greater range into position. When they do accomplish this the situation will be even more acute.

It is said that up to the present time the British naval losses have been negligible, although both sides must have suffered heavily on land. The Germans claim to have put a British torpedo boat out of action.

WHERE IS THE BRITISH NAVY?

London, Oct. 23.—A dispatch from Tenerife, Canary Islands, to the Daily Mail, under date of Thursday, reports that the German cruiser Karlsruhe has sunk thirteen British merchantmen in the Atlantic.

PLANS TO LAND TROOPS IN ENGLAND.

Copenhagen, October 23.—(Associated Press Cable).—Two shipyards at Kiel, the Germania and the Howard are building armored lighters capable of carrying 500 men each and traveling at the rate of nine miles an hour to proceed to the River Scheldt, should events permit the landing of German troops on the coast of England. Three of these lighters are completed and already on their way to the Scheldt.

500,000 FRESH TROOPS.

London, Oct. 23.—(Associated Press Cable).—New Forces are ready to join General Joffre's armies, says a Bordeaux dispatch to the Times. It continues: "This year's recruits, after two months' training, are now fit to bear arms. They will be joined at the front by a section of reserves not yet called to the colors, representing probably nearly half a million entirely fresh troops."

OVER 7,000,000 MEN PERISHED BY THE SWORD.

From the Christian era till the present time, as statistics and historians tell us, there have been less than 240 warlike years. Up to the middle of the nineteenth century, it was roughly computed that nearly 7,000,000 men had died in battle since the beginning of recorded history, a number equal to almost five times the present estimated population of the globe.—Christian Herald.

GERMANS BEATEN IN VICINITY OF GHENT.

London, Oct. 23.—"The German general staff has left Ghent and there are strong rumors of a severe German defeat," says the Rotterdam correspondent of the Daily Mail. "Messages from the different points of the northern frontier agree that the German coast army is being rolled up like a ribbon."

"The German cavalry has not been able to maneuver in the tangled like country and the German big guns are stuck in bogs. By a magnificent attack, it is stated, the French-British forces have cut the German line south of Ostend."
